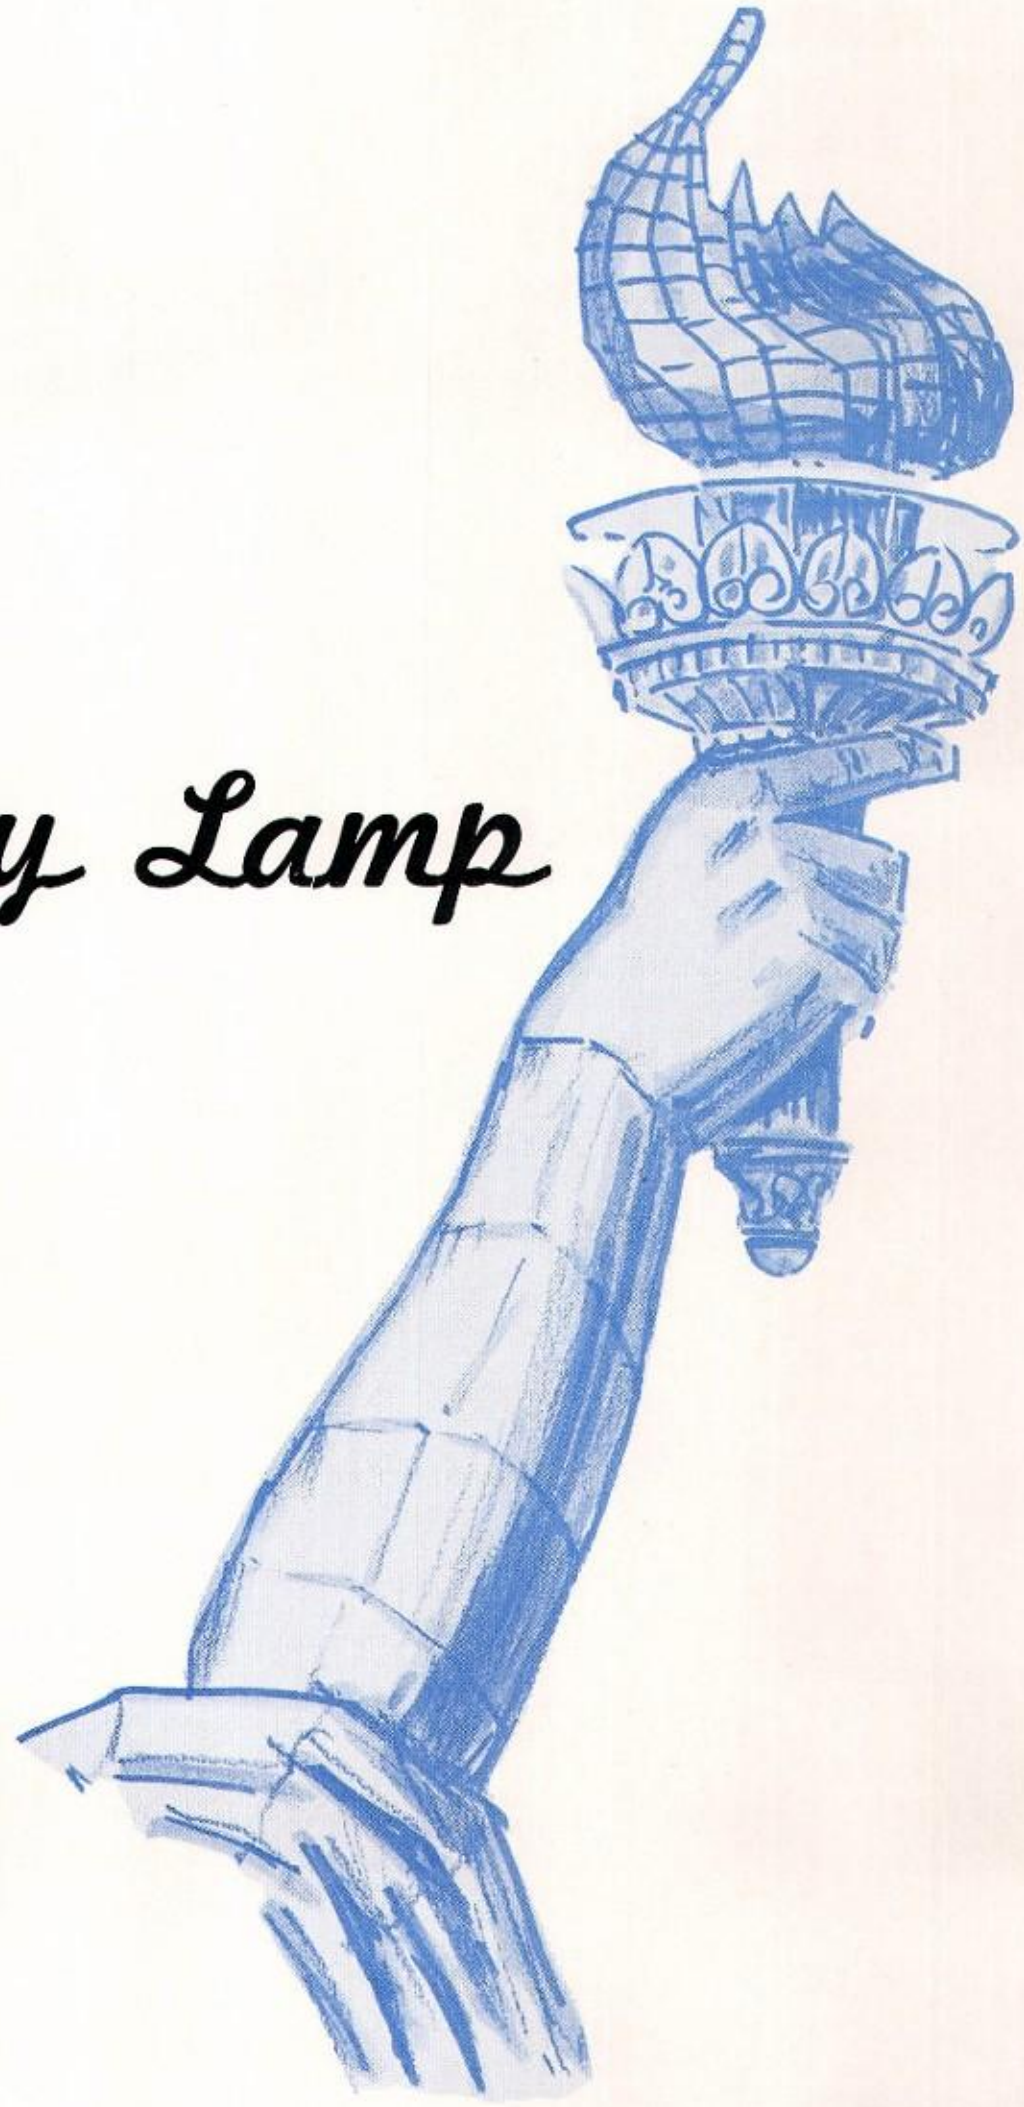
I Lift My Lamp



Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore,
Send these, the homeless, the tempest tost, to me:
I lift my lamp beside the golden door.

These words were struck on the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty in 1886. They are from "The New Colossus," by Emma Lazarus, a poem written in aid of the fund to raise money for the pedestal of the Statue of Liberty.

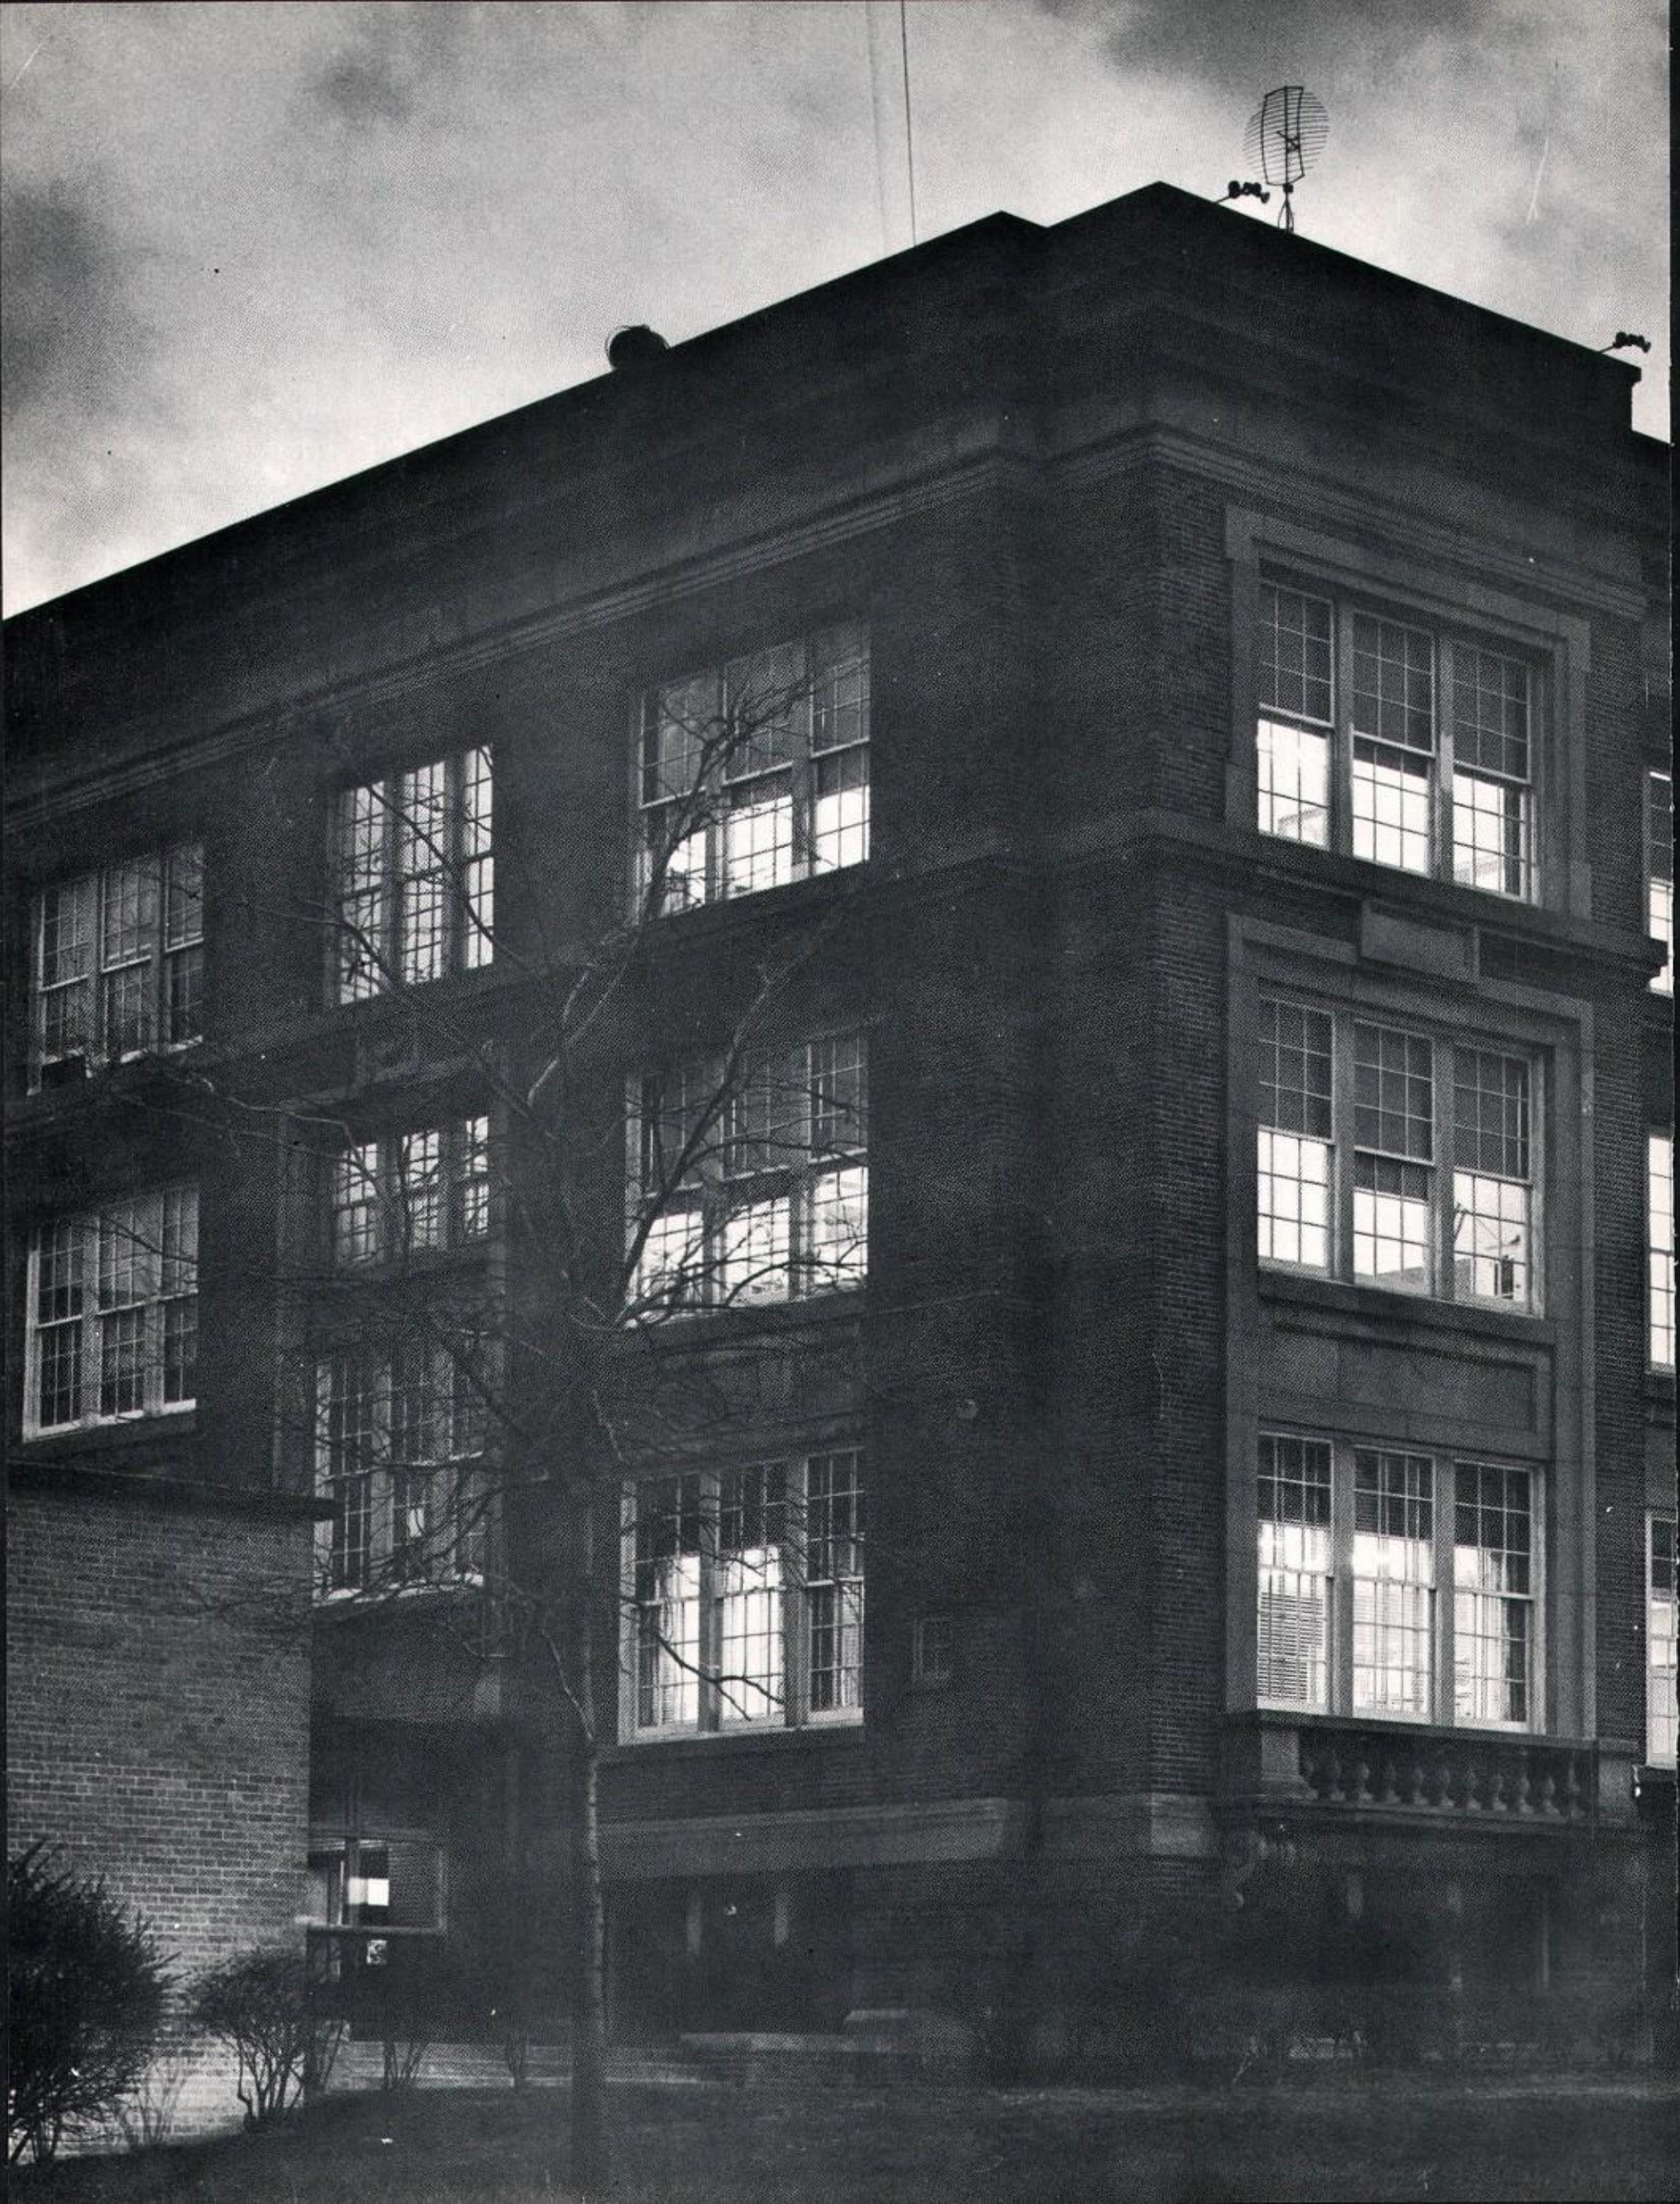
Lourdes Pabalan's demonstration of Philippino Bamboo Dance with fellow exchange students Subash Shah and Jorge Plaza de los Reyes continues a long tradition of bringing foreign culture to America's shores, fashioning our nation into the melting pot of the world



Reading Interests Are Vital

Aspects of Humanities Contain Prophetic Reassertion of American Ideals

Student Tom Boyer expertly leads chorus of "John Brown's Body"

A heartbeat of America was presented in the dramatic reading of Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body" to all the juniors and seniors who composed one mammoth class at an assembly in the Civic Auditorium. This was one of a series of programs given to this "class" to bring the scope and enrichment of a humanities course to our school. Humanities illuminates the theme of a national life as revealed in language and literature, music and the dance, fine arts and architecture, philosophy and religion. In this great humanities classroom, appreciation was the experience.

Touch of America

Is Carried to Foreign Lands Through Youth Exchange Programs

To promote world understanding through cultural exchange, American Field Service sponsored Karen Fichter's summer in Norway and brought Lourdes Pabalan from the Philippines and Jorge de los Reyes from Mexico to live this year in Lakewood. From Zanzibar came Subash Shah, sponsored by the Rotary Club. Thus, Karen took a touch of America to Norway, while Lourdes, Jorge, and Subash mingled with us and learned about American life first-hand.

Independent study is a powerful stimulus in the complex subject of contemporary civilization, introduced into the Social Studies Department this year by Mr. William Hamilton who has returned after spending a year in the study of humanities as a 1963-64 John Hay Fellow at the University of California at Berkeley, and who now directs this program of independent research on today's problems

College Education

Is Goal of Many LHS Scholars

College-bound students find help in making choices for the future from parents, guidance counselors, and college representatives. Interviews with alumni and advisers from universities who visit on College Night or during the year influence many to decide in favor of higher education.

Visitors receive guide lists of places of meetings for all of the colleges represented

Leaders Develop

Outstanding leaders are students who have initiative and ability in a chosen field. Such individuals develop their talents and make an effort to excel, whether in athletics, scholarship, or social life. It is the American spirit.

Advanced Placement classes explored "Oedipus Rex" and other famous Greek plays as a base for the study of Shakespearean drama

English Courses Develop, Mold Character

In order to inspire and enrich every student in literary knowledge and in modes of communication, materials and methods of teaching English are constantly improved. Courses are geared to each student's abilities to enable him to produce his maximum quality. Eleven different sections from regular to Advanced Placement challenge even the most gifted students capable of achieving college level work. In addition, students may select speech, debate, drama, and journalism to develop special interests while acquiring knowledge. English and American history courses were coordinated this year into a more fluent program for the juniors.

Social Studies Correlates Past and Present

Social Studies develops an understanding of today's events through knowledge of the past and the present. Beginning with the Constitution, United States History classes study the making of America, while problems courses discuss current topics. A new method of independent study aids contemporary civilization in research of events from World War II through the present day. European history emphasizes intellectual movements from the Middle Ages to modern times.

Science . . .
Organized Knowledge

Realization of the need for greater individual understanding of the basic ideas has brought BSCS biology, CBA chemistry, and PSSC physics to the science department. This revamping of approach has stressed importance of informal laboratory periods which, together with research papers and outside data-gathering projects, provide the understanding necessary to the application of concepts.

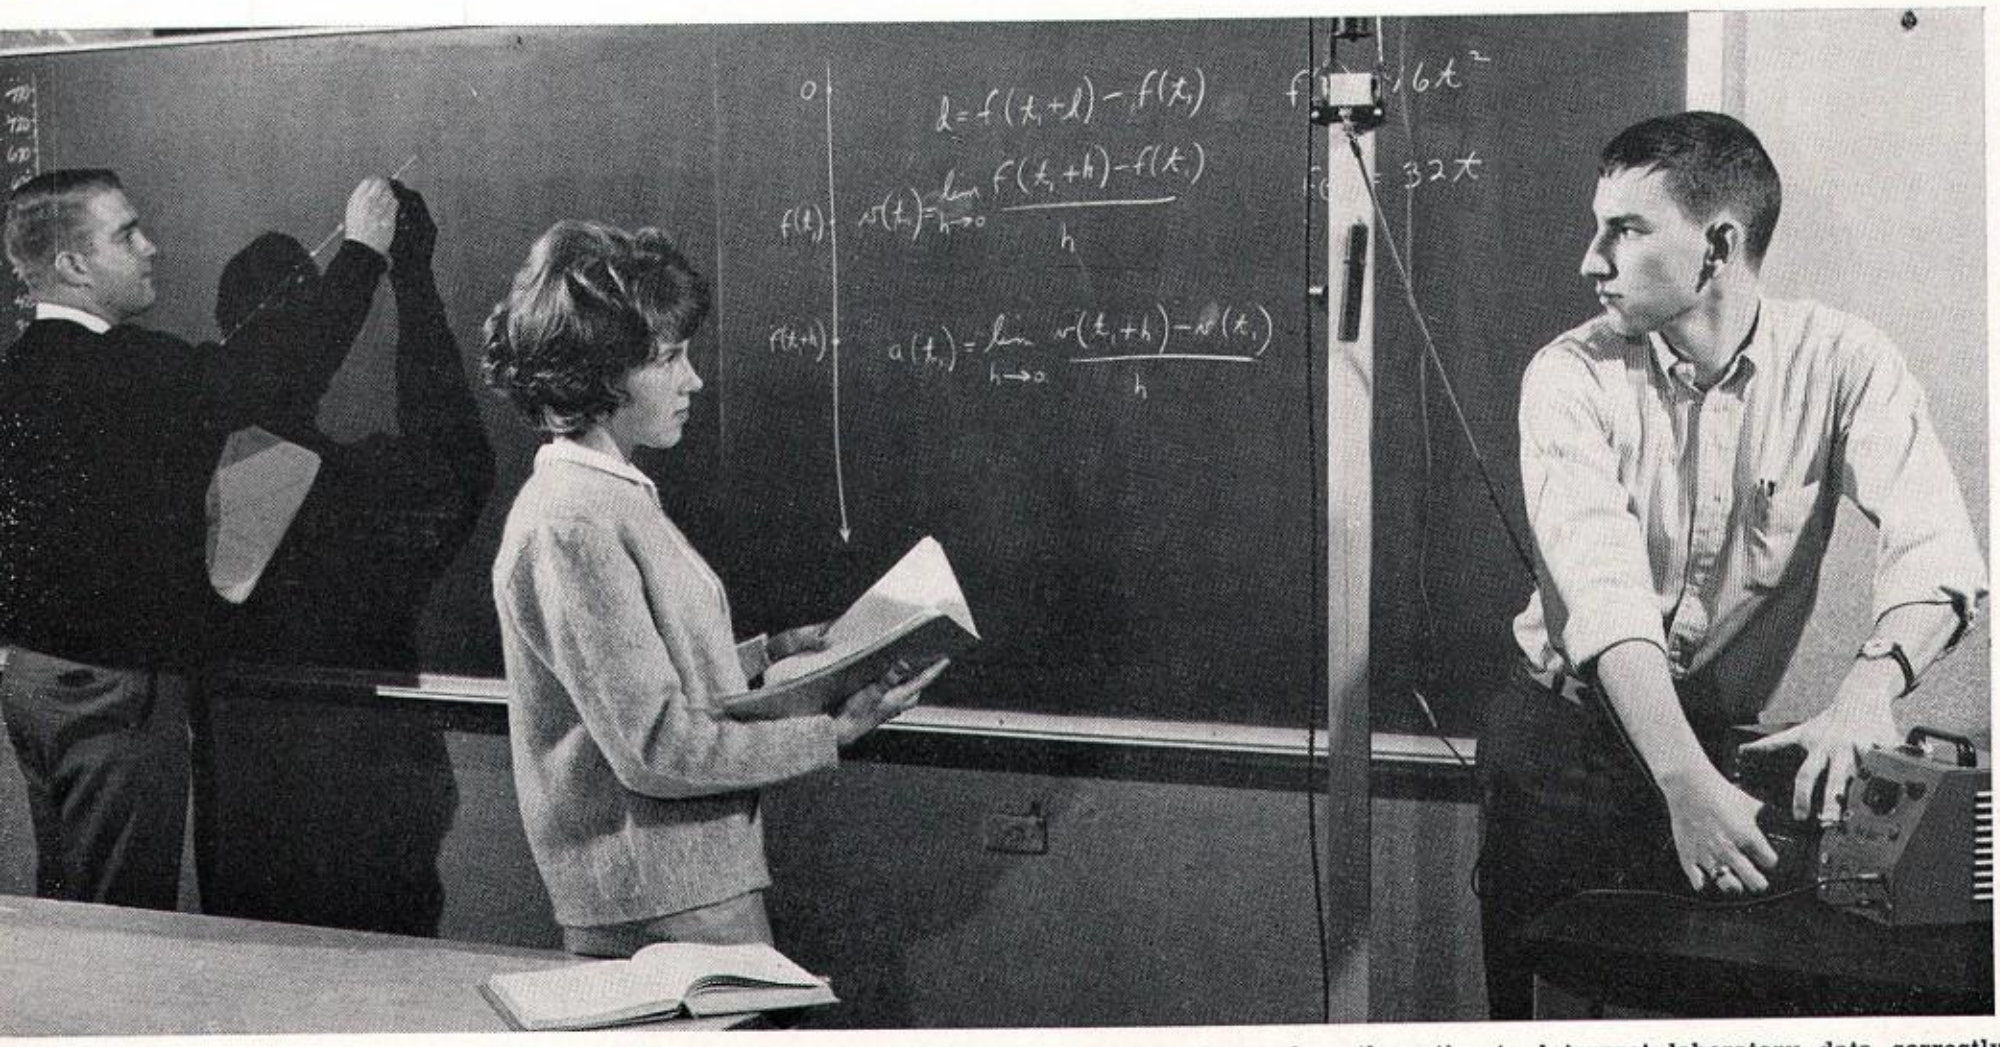
Student laboratory assistants Virginia Wertman and Paul Webber gain practical experience in sterile technique of non-pathogenic bacterial transfers



Free-fall experimentation requires a knowledge of both physics and advanced mathematics to interpret laboratory data correctly

Math-PSSC Physics Unite Into One Course

In a new approach this year, advanced mathematics and PSSC physics are combined into one course taught by Mr. Donald Buckeye. It is programmed in a block of three periods in order to provide an uninterrupted sequence of study. Mathematical knowledge is used to solve physics problems in electricity, mechanics, and optics. Principles of modern algebra, calculus, and probability are applied to practical situations. What is stressed is the method of solution rather than memorization.

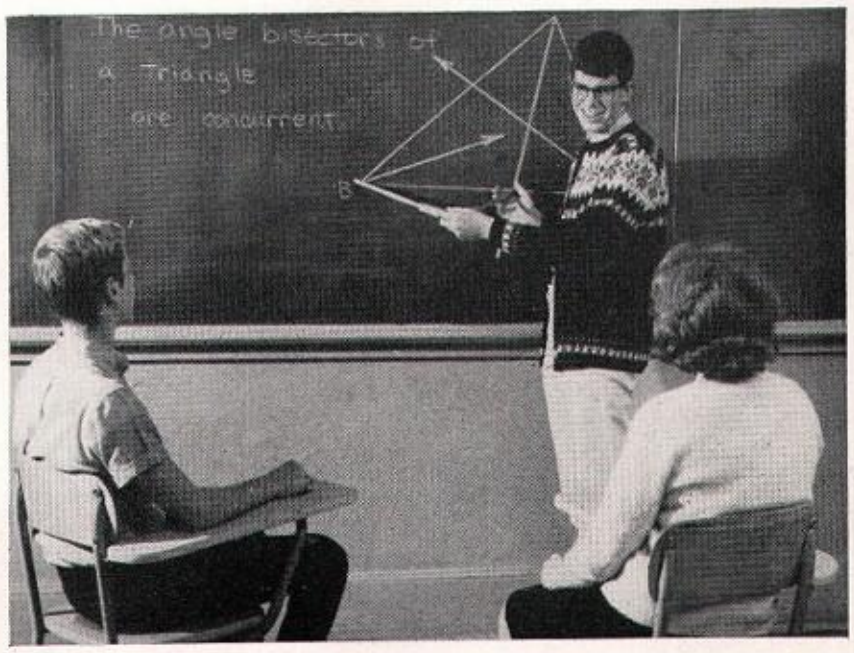
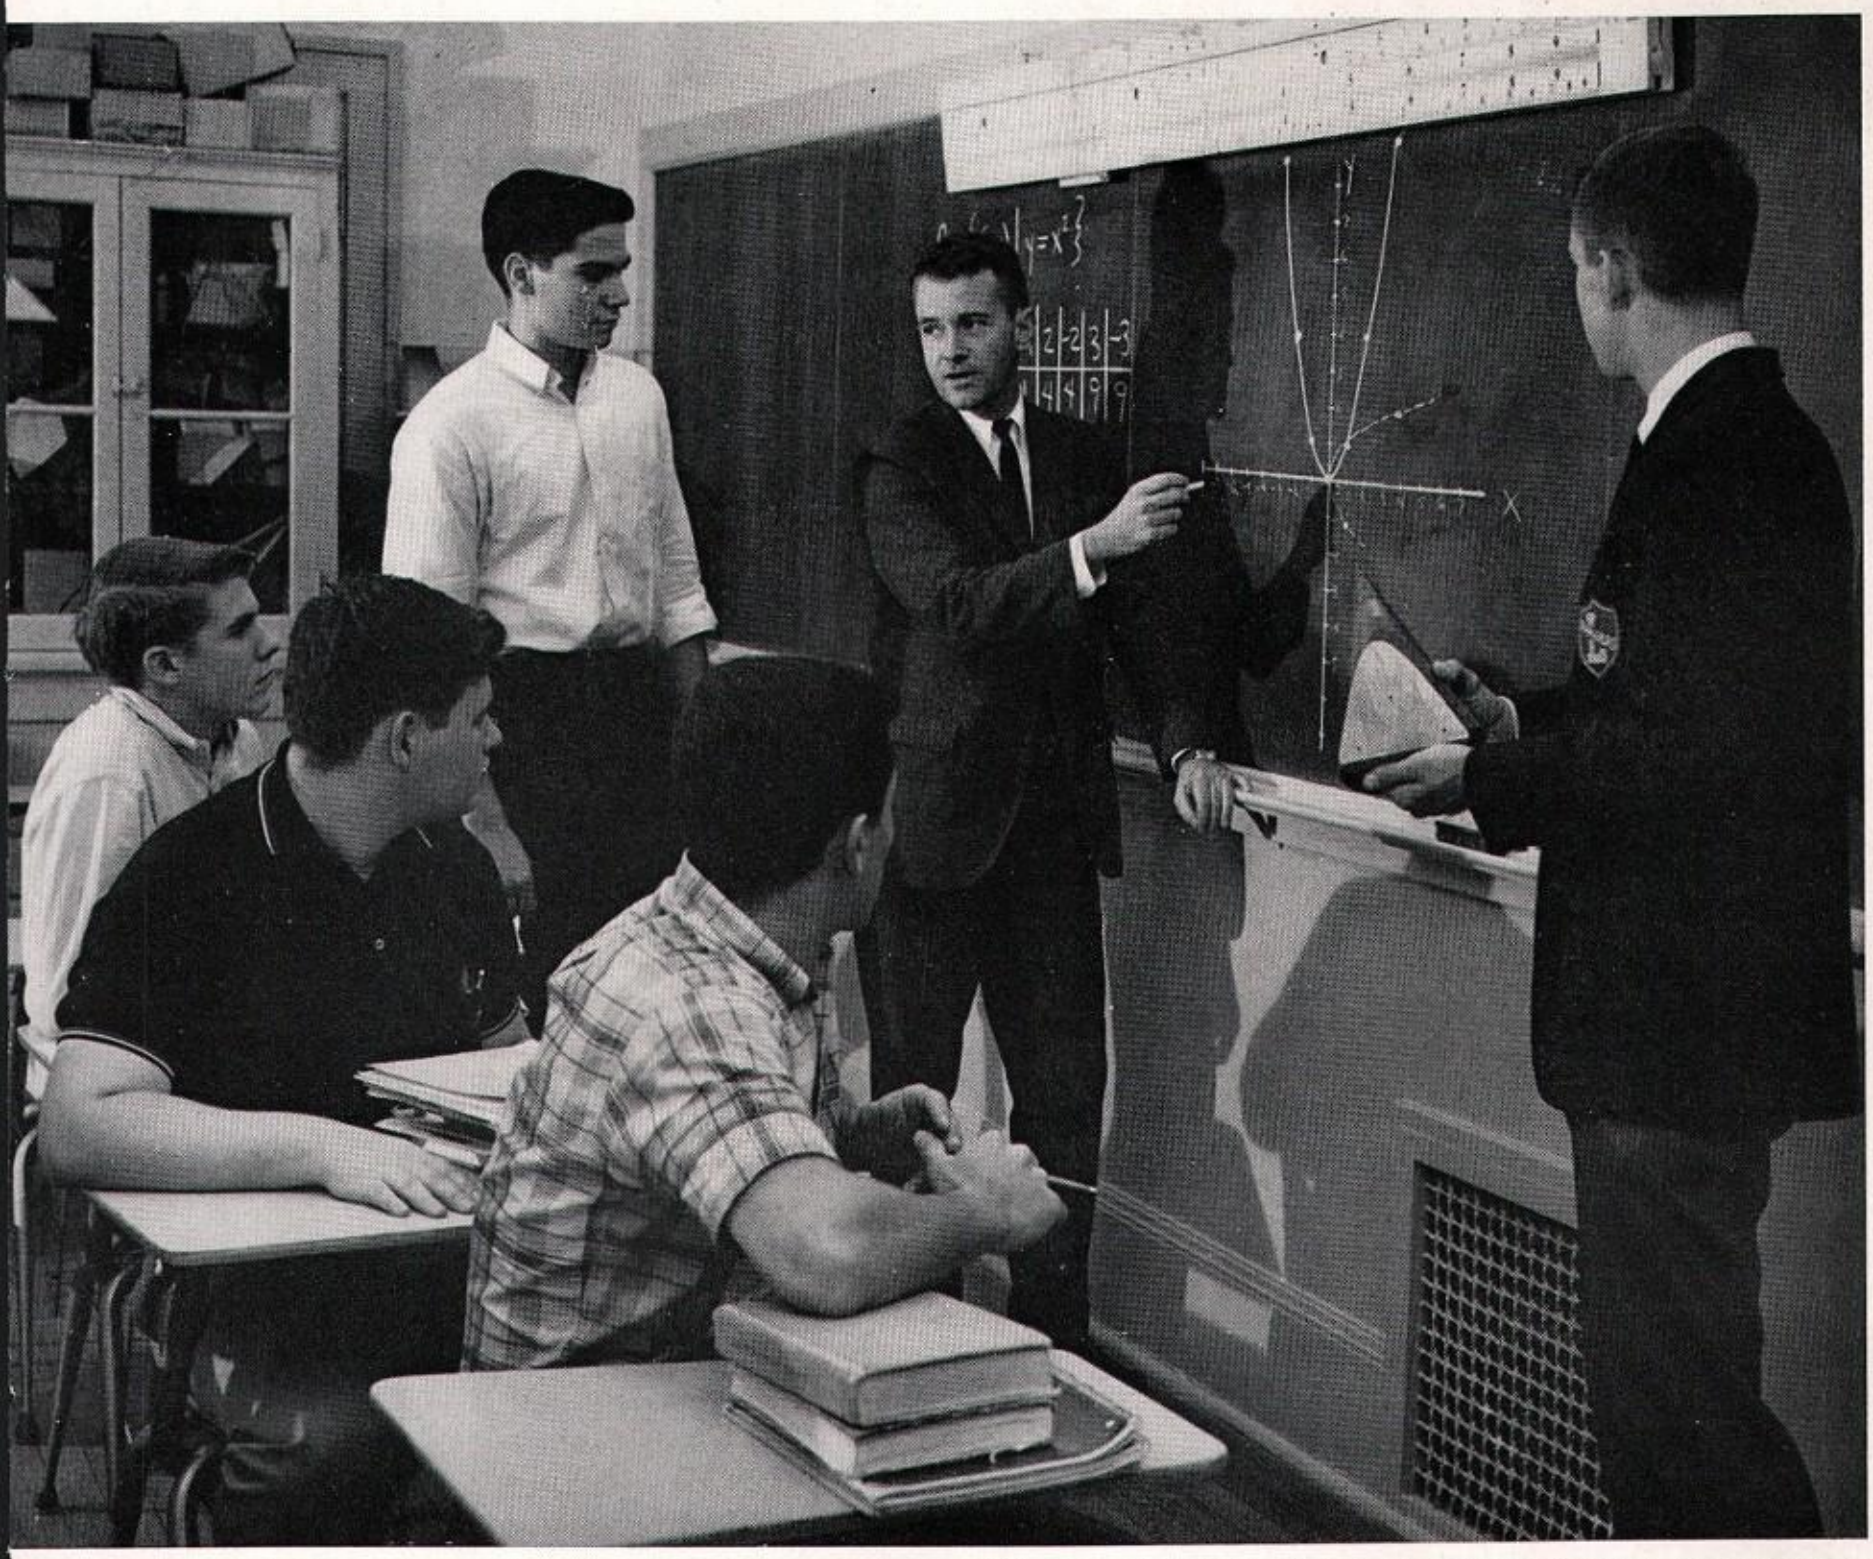
Math Fosters Progress

In preparing students to meet the challenge of our modern, scientific society, the mathematics department offers many types of courses. Geometry introduces students to plane and solid figures and develops understanding of the deductive method. General math stresses consumer problems and daily usage. Algebra and trigonometry shape math into a logical form, emphasizing abstract thinking.



Accurately constructed diagrams aid geometry students in the proof of triangular theorems needed to solve other problems



Algebra students examine conic section producing a parabola as Mr. Paul McGarvey explains graphical equation representations

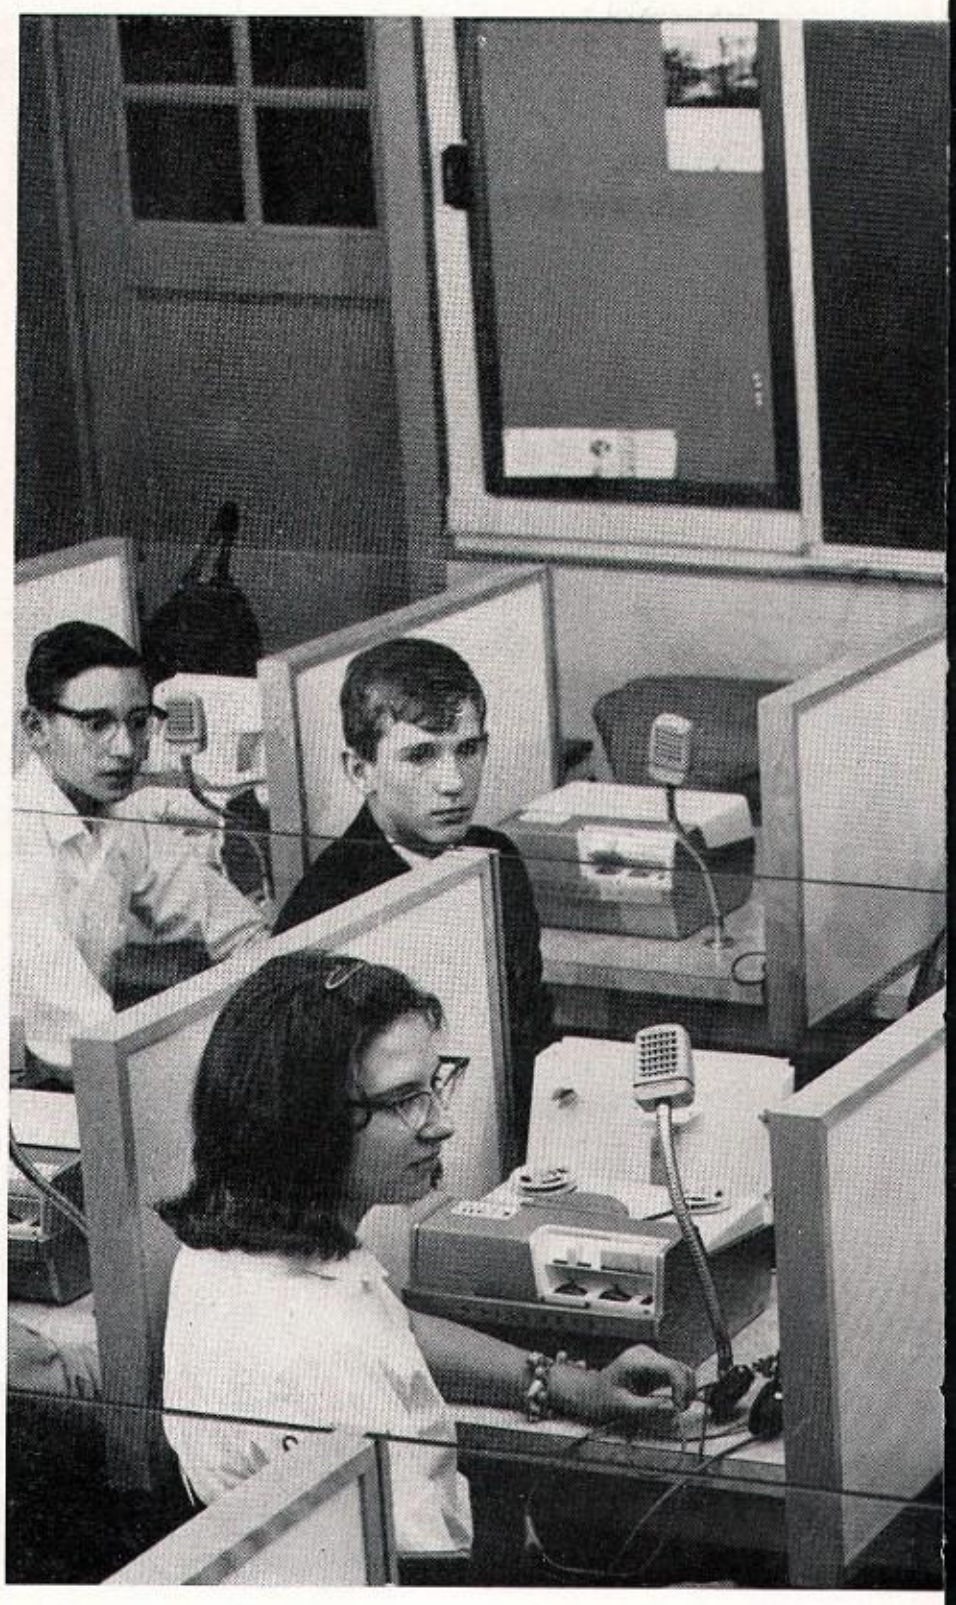
Fifth-year French, the first such class in the school's history, enacts "Jean Valjean"



Language Study Promotes World Understanding

Offering Spanish, French, German, and Latin, the foreign language department seeks not only to teach other languages of communication but also to promote a deeper understanding of the cultures and lives of other nationality groups. During the first two years the classes stress vocabulary, grammar, and pronunciation. In advanced courses the student puts his newly acquired "tongue" to work in reading novels and short stories, writing detailed compositions, and conversing with others.

Language classes are scheduled for one session a week in language laboratory

Boys learn proficiency with precision tools by the rebuilding of complicated engines

Technical Experience Gained

Industrial Arts is an integral part of general education, providing sensitizing activities in seven areas of endeavor. Students may discover their individual aptitudes and abilities leading to a valid vocational selection as they acquire technical skills and proficiency as well as understandings and appreciation of tools, processes, and materials.

Home Economics Insures Better Family Living

Courses in home economics cover all phases of homemaking from budgeting time and money to caring for children. Management classes guide in planning worthwhile goals as well as teach family health and interior decorating. Clothing encourages creative and useful working with textiles, while foods classes stress nutrition in balanced diets.

With each timed practice session, students come closer to the achievement of their goal for better speed along with more accuracy

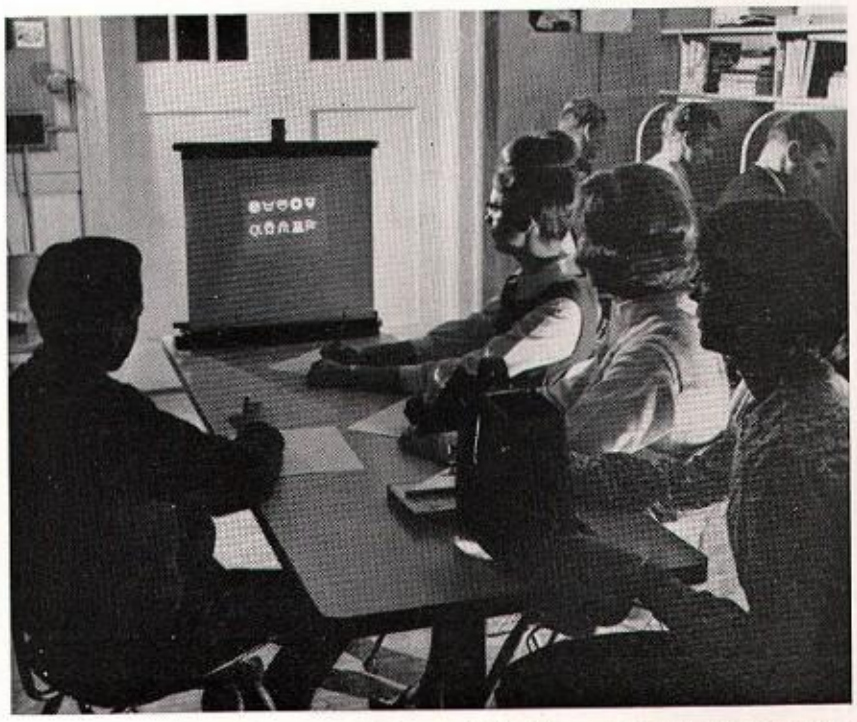
Practical Skills Lay Foundations for Business Work

Future business careers in such fields as sales, stenography, bookkeeping, or accounting often generate from the commercial program offered at Lakewood. Skills in typing, shorthand, use of modern business machines, and correct business English build a firm base in business techniques.

New bookkeeping machine maintains the current balances of accounts receivable

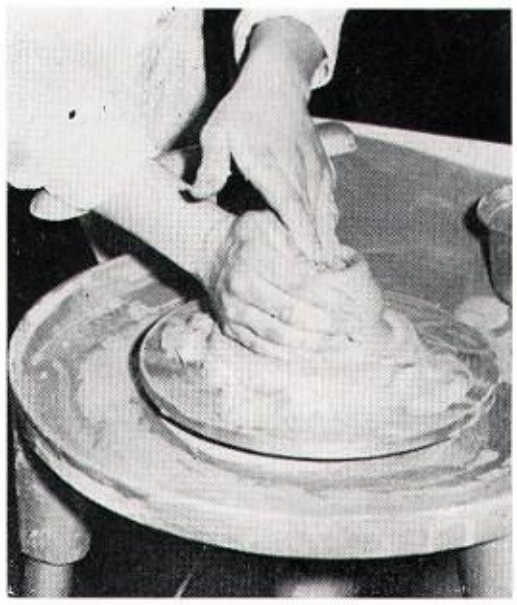
Better Reading . . .
A Key to Progress in Learning

Activities provided in the Reading and Study Skills Center improve the reading proficiency of every student who enrolls. Mr. Anthony DiBiasio, director, instructs participants in the best use of such aids as tape recordings, training films, reading pacers, and workbooks. Each student tallies his own scores on frequent timed tests for a tangible measure of progress during the six-week course. No grades or credits are given, but direct benefits appear in the improved vocabulary, speed, and comprehension of diversified reading materials.



Competing in quick recognition of flashing filmstrips improves attention, concentration, span of vision, and ready retention

Voluntary working with multilevel text and modern equipment guarantees progress in reading speed, understanding, and vocabulary



Careful hands and spinning potter's wheel mold vases into desired contour

Art Satisfies Creative Instincts of Students

By providing a creative outlet the art department gives opportunities for students to express their feelings and imagination in paintings, sculptures, and drawings. The study of art history affords appreciation for the distinguishing styles of the famous artists and their periods. Advanced classes work on portfolios for scholarship applications and on the scenery for school theatrical productions.

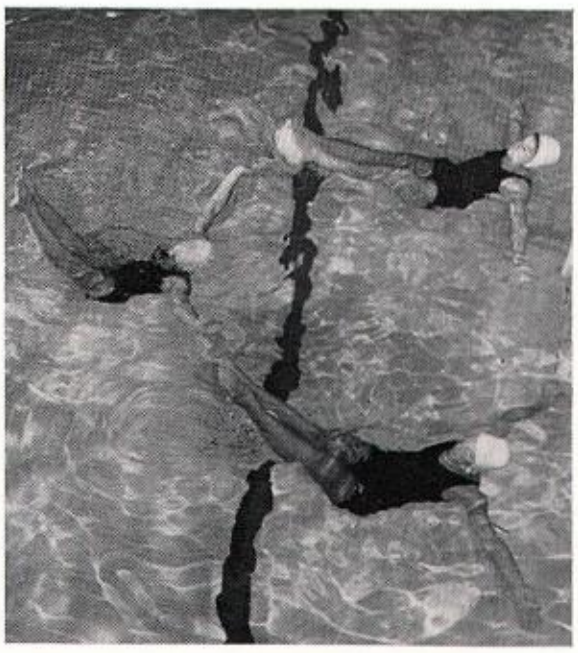
The dictation period provides the student with an opportunity to realize in notation those sounds which he hears reproduced

Music Offers Broad Program for Development

Harmony classes acquaint students with the basic techniques of harmonization. The music appreciation course, also offered this year, stresses the background of musical literature. In addition to the instrumental courses, the Junior Choir gives excellent background experience for the Senior Choir. Instrumentalists are provided an outlet for their talents in the two bands and the orchestra.

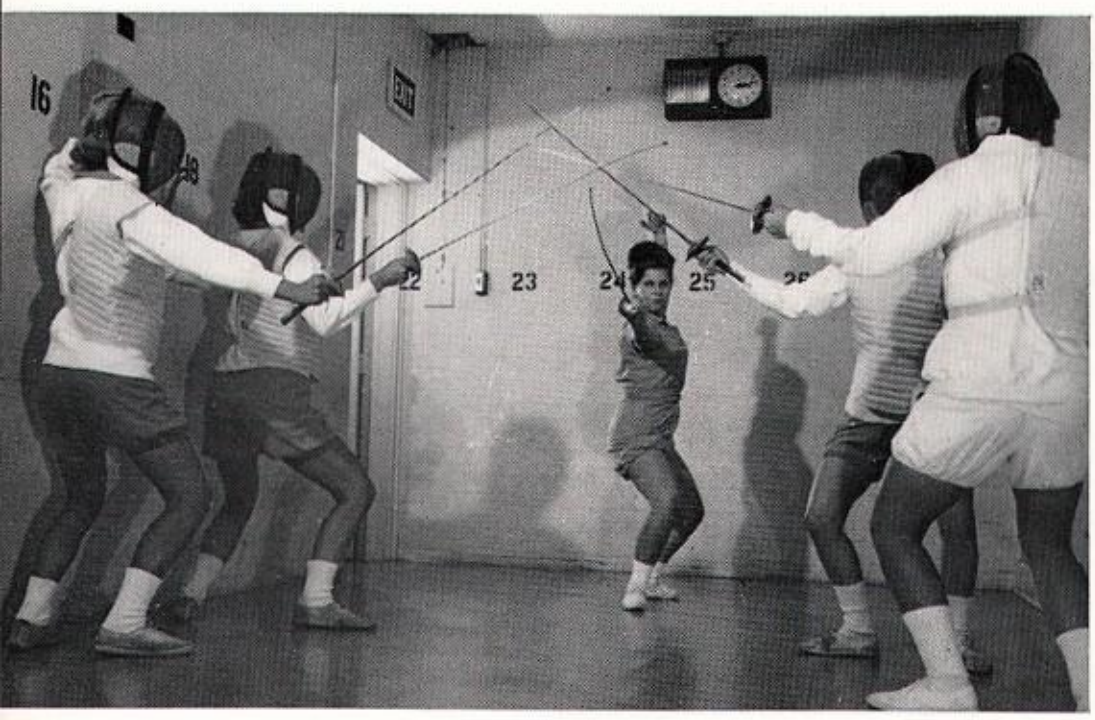
Small instrumental ensembles add scintillation to diverse music productions



Tankateers Lynn Cleary, Jan Matius, and Maureen Becks perform an "oyster" with ease

Gymnasts Shoot For Total Physical Education

A comprehensive array of activities is presented by the physical education departments. Meticulously planned to develop strength and sportsmanship, activities range from isometrics and a mile run for boys to archery and fencing for girls. Students undergo exhaustive testing procedures which measure their progress in physical development.



Class fencers strive to master the qualities of agility and grace needed for complete command and accuracy in the sport

Driver Education Program Takes Progressive New Turn

The threefold development of good driving—the classroom phase, driving simulators, and on-the-street driving—was bolstered early this spring by a plan increasing the number of cars to thirteen. With this equipment, Mr. Joseph Casey hoped to give more pupils a chance to drive by creating a driving range on the north side of Franklin Avenue.

Maintenance Reflects Constant Activity

With school in session both day and night, weekends filled with tests, athletic events, and conventions, and a wide variety of programs in the Civic Auditorium, the activity at Lakewood High can only be described as constant. Reflecting this activity are the many people needed to keep the physical plant in top shape. Mr. Michael Yaster and the custodial staff have a busy schedule of cleaning and repairing. In the Civic Auditorium, Mr. Ed Moore supervises the ever-changing scene. The activity also makes the job of Mr. Stephen Ondrejech, school security officer, a busy one.

Efficiency Is Important Note in Cafeteria

The cafeteria with its well-spaced tables and wide windows provides a relaxed atmosphere in which students can eat and socialize during the three lunch periods. At the hot-lunch counters they may purchase a variety of tempting foods that have been selected after careful consideration of both nutritional value and student tastes. In addition, a well-balanced budget special is offered every day. There are also quick lunch counters where students may purchase sandwiches, milk, and candy bars.

After the candy bars, sandwiches, and lunches are purchased, a constant buzz of conversation flows from the cafeteria

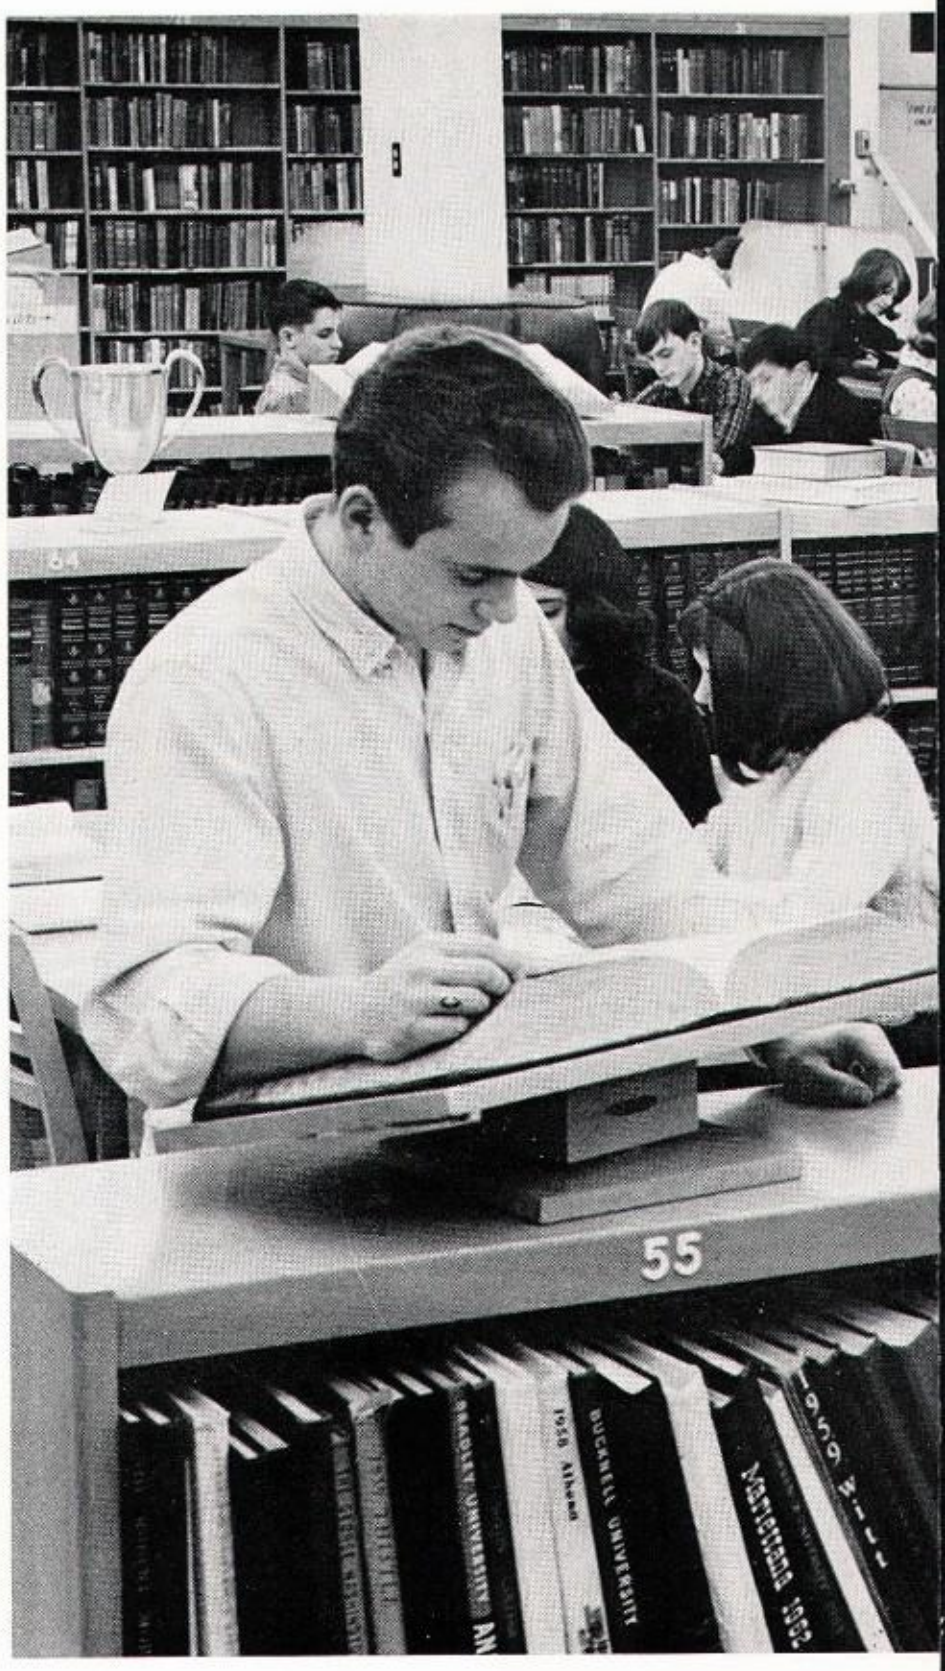
Student workers in the bookroom handle sales of the large number of inexpensive supplies demanded by a comprehensive curriculum

Bookroom Is School Clearing House

From selling paperback classics to swimming noseplugs, volunteer students tend to counter sales with prompt and courteous service. Under the supervision of Miss Helen Stafford, ten thousand textbooks are dispensed and collected each year, with pupil's records kept in triplicate to avoid confusion in this tremendous undertaking. Another important function is the storage of permanent records of former students. All school accounts are kept and balanced monthly, facilitating the record-keeping of school clubs, activity fees, and cafeteria transactions. It is, moreover, the delivery headquarters for packages and interschool mail.

Records and neatness are the prime ingredients for an efficient bookroom

Diversified and up-to-date material open to students all day



Library Carrels Individualize Study Habits

With a periphery of 14,000 books and a spacious arrangement of study carrels and tables, the ever-expanding library offers a climate conducive to resourceful study. The book supply is kept up-to-date by careful subtractions as well as additions. Open this year on a lengthened daily schedule from 7:45 to 4:30, the library maintains a rule of quiet at all times, thus giving priority to serious use by students and teachers alike.

Instructional Materials Enrich Daily Classroom Routine

The Instructional Materials Center provides an extensive array of equipment and trained personnel for its operation. The center has at its disposal motion picture, slide, and filmstrip projectors. It also has tape recorders and record players which may be used separately or in conjunction with slides and filmstrips. Also available are twenty overhead projectors and economical transparencies. New this year for student use is the 8-mm. cartridge viewer. The cartridge arrangement makes threading and rewinding obsolete. Directed by Miss Lucille Kenney, the center attempts to provide equipment which will be useful to all courses.

Quality Education Is Aim

Before a Board meeting, Dr. Edwards shows Dr. Pardee some pertinent educational data

The five members of the Lakewood Board of Education are each elected for a four-year term. As trustees of the electorate, they set school policies and maintain high standards in all phases of education in Lakewood. Our present board truly represents a cross-section of community enterprise, from Mrs. Teare's position as president of the Women's City Club of Cleveland to the professions of doctor, lawyer, merchant, "chief" (parents—all). They meet on the second Thursday of each month to examine policies and problems. In January they adopt their platform and choose officers. For the current year the women are at the top: Mrs. Kimball is president, Mrs. Teare, vice president.

DR. WILLIAM B. EDWARDS

Superintendent of Schools

Dr. Edwards Appraises Educational Values

Dr. Edward's enthusiasm for the betterment of education motivates many communications and studies. In 1960 he was one of forty superintendents chosen to visit schools in several European countries under a Fulbright scholarship. In 1964 he made another tour of inspection to Europe, sponsored by the Educational Research Council of Cleveland. Last summer he was a John Hay Fellow in Humanities at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. Always he shares his learnings with students, colleagues, and community groups. He also is a leader in school law: as now he is collaborating with Dr. Spayde revising "Baldwin's Ohio School Laws" for a sixth edition, having done the fifth edition published in 1958. His keen awareness of educational values is a source of inspiration to all.

Dr. Spayde Attends Financial Problems

Dr. Spayde manages the complex finances of Lakewood's million-dollar school system. To the last dollar, he must channel the resources to keep our school system financially sound as well as efficiently equipped and staffed. Often he is called as consultant to other school systems in his service as Chairman of OEA's Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities, his third year in this position. He is co-author with Dr. Edwards on the last revision of "Baldwin's Ohio School Laws" and a new edition to be published in 1966. This summer he has been awarded a John Hay Fellowship for the study of Humanities at the University of Oregon.

DR. PAUL E. SPAYDE

Assistant Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Povenmire's Office Is Mecca of School Activity

Working units of every phase of education at this comprehensive high school converge in the principal's office by fixed schedule. Mr. Povenmire sets high goals for himself, and thus, by example, a high standard for all the school. In a thorough examination of problems and educational progress through conferences, he sets the pace. In addition, he maintains countless informal contacts with teachers, students, and other school personnel. In all the facets of his administration and leadership in school and community, he keeps the personal touch. To him, each individual is important.

Mr. Cunningham Counsels Boys in Citizenship

Mr. Cunningham, assistant principal, director of summer school, and dean of boys, plays an important role in the development of the life and character of the school. He develops the master schedule for both regular and summer school. In charge of boys' discipline, he spends long hours in individual counseling, trying to help every boy adjust to school life and become a valuable citizen.

Mr. Rasp Sets Goals to Improve Instruction

Mr. Rasp, the assistant principal in charge of instruction, specifically works with new teachers to help in their orientation. He also develops new courses of study as changes in educational content and emphasis indicate the need for revision. Then, too, the Humanities Program, instituted in an inspiring series of assembly programs for upperclassmen to give experiences in appreciation of human values, has been solely his responsibility.

Miss Spinneweber Promotes Business Contacts

Miss Spinneweber maintains close relations between the school and community. She helps locate jobs for students and arranges four extensive Careers Day programs which bring experts of many fields of work to talk to interested students. She is also one of the two tenth-grade counselors.

Dr. Edwards Writes on 'What to Teach'

What to teach? How to teach what you teach and the emerging role of the learner will be more in the fore in the next decade of education than in any comparable period in history. The search for what to teach will result in some of the once-considered essentials being removed to the sidelines or taught once and not repeated. This transition will not be easy. It is always hard to give up anything on which you have leaned for some time. Too, the learning of the new involves conditioning and fortifying to use the new material with purpose.

Dr. Edwards Writes on 'How to Teach'

How to teach will open more and perhaps greater difficulties than what to teach. Secondary education has suffered too long under the misapprehension that filtered down from the college that telling (lecturing) is teaching. Stated another way, hearing is frequently not learning. Learning is best when it is active, motivating to action and reaction by the learner with resulting expansion of interest; discussion with peers; exchange of ideas; reading, test conclusions, reform hypotheses and advance to a new position. Learning is more than the pouring-in of knowledge.

Dr. Edwards Looks To a New Era in Education

How to teach is more than questions and answers. It is discreetly guiding, assembling information leading to pupil search, patience to counsel, listening, regrouping and learning while you teach. In the future, it will mean applying a new philosophy resulting from research in the knowledge of how learning takes place. Too long has research in learning failed to be a year-by-year up-grading of classroom techniques. We will learn from research that the art of learning how to learn is a handmaiden of learning itself. Perhaps captivating upon the learner's interest as a straight pathway to the greatest growth will assume new stature. There will be more stress on the individual and his special needs. Education is to set the individual free, for ignorance is but a prison. The search for knowledge will surely lead to the open door.

In Memoriam . . .

Miss Margaret Abby Rush

was a vital person of many interests and enthusiasms. Her personal warmth pervaded all her associations. She had high standards of teaching, of living, of sharing. All who knew her well know that she sincerely loved life in all its moods and variations.

On Sunday evening, January 10, 1965, her friends gathered at church for a last tribute to her. It was an evening of quiet peace and acceptance as personal remembrances enhanced the words spoken in honor of this beautiful woman who too soon had joined whose music is the gladness of the world."

". . . the choir invisible

Largest Class Graduates Over 700 Seniors

Early in the fall, new Senior Adviser Anthony DiBiasio met an eager but serious group of seniors to launch plans for the class of '65. After election of officers in the fall came appointments of graduation committees and election of commencement speakers. Committee chairmen organized meetings: announcements, Ron Tober; flower, Pat Henry; cap and gown, Nancy Chockley; prom, Julian Hoffar; motto, Andrea Stickney. The year went fast as good things do. Then came the final week, awaited with both dread and anticipation. A memorable week—with its private parties and picnics—the gala prom, a dinner dance at the Cleveland-Sheraton—an all-night party at the Masonic Temple, sponsored by the parents—baccalaureate—and finally, commencement. With hope for the future, seniors were launched to answer freedom's ringing summons:

Honor Society Inducts 115 Members of 1965 Class

Lakewood's National Honor Society Chapter inducted 114 students and one honorary member into its ranks at a special assembly held November 19. Principal Mahlon Povenmire administered the following oath, taken by honored students all over the country, to these seniors who compose the top fifteen per cent of the 1965 graduating class: "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of the society to which I have been elected, striving in every way, by work and by deed, to make its ideals the ideals of my school and my life." Membership is based on a student's achivements during his first two years of high school. All seniors who attain a 2.7 grade average become nominees. Each teacher who has ever had any candidate in class or club rates him in the areas of leadership, service, and character. These ratings are weighted according to the number of semesters the teacher had the student. Miss Edna Kleinmeyer, the Society's adviser, makes the final tabulation before the announcement of new inductees in November. Because Honor Society members are the busiest people in the school, few additional activities are scheduled. Most important is the volunteering tutoring program for classmates in need of help.

Officers Verna Straub, Douglas Ford, Joyce Mobley, and Ronald Tober examine the Honor Society business records

Outstanding Seniors Excel on National Merit Tests

Twenty-six seniors received awards for their efforts on the National Merit qualifying test they took in March of their junior year. Twenty students received Letters of Commendation, and six became finalists in the annual scholarship competition for awards ranging from $100 to $1500 a year. The highest scorers on the test become semifinalists, and after completing autobiographical forms and taking the December College Board Examinations, ninety-eight per cent advance to the standing of finalist. They then compete with seniors from all over the country for unsponsored as well as college and company-sponsored scholarships. Each year out of about 14,000 finalists, 1600 receive financial aid.

Finalists John McGraw, Paula Kauffmann, John Eichhorn, Anne McCormick, Sara Kemp, and Roger Mennell reveal college and career plans to Principal Mahlon Povenmire, who congratulates them on their high achievement on the National Merit Scholarship tests

Student Council Revitalizes School Spirit

Headed by the executive council and advised by Miss Agnes Cope and Mr. Loyd Stuller, Student Council responded to the challenge of responsibility. Being a sounding board for the entire school, the representative type student government executed several successful projects. Accomplishments included Booster buses to away sports events, club bulletins, and assembly improvements. Most effective of the first semester council endeavors were the spirit-bolstering "Go LHS" campaign and the cafeteria clean-up period. Both gave an excellent opportunity for students to put forth their very best in the school and the community.

Cinema Lifts Lamp to Enlighten All

The nation demands excellence, and the school prepares students to meet that demand. This year's theme symbolizes the liberty an individual has to excel in his own field. A creative and diligent staff under the guidance of Miss Gertrude McTaggart brought this story to the school and the community. The financial reins were in the hands of Mr. George Platt. His staff was responsible for handling sales, and keeping the financial records in order. The advertising staff, supervised by Mr. Orie Yoder, labored tenaciously to turn in a surprising number of ads. The combined efforts of these groups consolidated the story of the school year—a story with its finger on the pulse of the nation as well as the pulse of the school.

TIMES Tells All

Meeting pressing deadlines, the Lakewood High Times staff produces a four-page paper each week. Articles concerning all facets of school life are appealing and useful to everyone. The publication is not only a report of events but also a reflection of people's ideas. Editorials and a letter column let interested readers air their views on current school issues. Timely and thorough interviews, light and humorous stories, and artistic cartoons and photographs boost the paper toward National Scholastic Press Association All-American honors.

Phoenix Displays Literary Achievements

"Phoenix," the literary magazine, acts as a testing ground for the works of ambitious writers, giving them an incentive to develop more fully in all areas of writing. English teachers encourage students to try for publication because it provides a worthwhile goal to imaginative and creative work. Writers may work with their English teacher to perfect the material and submit it through them, or they may develop it on their own and submit it directly to the magazine. Art students also make contributions of drawings and illustrations to highlight the pages and add interest. Editors evaluate all material and choose the pieces which go into the next edition.

Barnstormers Pursue Dramatic Arts

Continuing their established tradition of excellence, Barnstormers produced two three-act plays this year: Miller's "All My Sons" and Holm's "Gramercy Ghost." Each play was of high individual merit. Directed by Mr. Moore, the productions typified the most advanced quality of high-school drama. Those not performing in the plays worked on properties, make-up, tickets, and publicity crews. For a bonus, a Barnstormer group traveled to Ohio State University to see their production of "Music Man." The year culminated with a picnic and Thespian dinner at which time those who received ten points during the year were inducted into the National Thespian Society, Troupe 472.

Social Responsibility Is the Key to Membership

Three active groups have their origins in classroom experiences: Leadership and World Society (LAWS); Science Seminar; and the Lakewood Chapter of the Youth Council on Human Relations, chartered in spring, 1964. At regular programs throughout the year, each group independently brings experts of their fields to teach them by lecture or demonstration. Important to Science Seminar was a trip to the new Lakewood Sewage Plant, with a conducted tour by Engineer Mels Rowley. The Youth Council sponsored a day of visitation for Glenville High's Chapter. They also participated in city-wide gatherings and service projects, working in all parts of Greater Cleveland. All three groups grapple with today's problems.

Math Club members this year toured the Euclid Avenue IBM center in order to study computers and computer-programming. Before and after their visit special speakers lectured on computer design and the uses of computers. In addition, club members gave reports on infinity, mathematical games, and topology, a new branch of geometry that has been developed within the last century. They also saw the movie, "Donald in Mathmagic Land."

FTA Stresses Constant Need for Teachers

Future Teachers of America informs interested college-bound students about different facets of the teaching profession. A film in the fall inspired some in working with deaf people. Guest speakers included faculty members and a lecturer on the International Teaching Alphabet. Main emphasis centered on the unceasing need for quality teachers in every field. A potluck dinner at Christmas and a spring picnic constituted FTA's social events.

Hi-Commercial Conducts Savings Stamp Sale

Selling U. S. Savings Stamps was Hi-Commercial's service project this year. Members chose this project because it would help students become interested in saving their money. They also watched a representative of Olivetti-Underwood show a printing calculator. This machine is a combination adding machine and calculator that prints its answers. In addition, a speaker from Ohio Bell presented a lecture, "Your Voice Is You," which emphasized the importance of a pleasing telephone voice. At the Christmas meeting Mr. Robert Schmotzer, sponsor, showed slides of the Holy Land.

Constellations Impress Latin Club Members

Visiting the school planetarium to hear an explanation of the constellations and their Latin names was one of Latin Club's most interesting programs. In addition, club members saw several films about Roman life with the commentary in Latin, not English. Club members also learned about contemporary Italian life through a program presented by an Italian exchange student. Also, they sponsored a cake-walk at the April all-school party, held a talent show, and celebrated Latin week by presenting special reports and projects.

Swiss Citizen Speaks to German Club

German Club members had the opportunity this year to hear Herr Kurt Horlacher, a Swiss language teacher, discuss his country's school system. Herr Horlacher was in Lakewood for six weeks under the National Foreign Language Teacher Aide Program. At another meeting Mr. Clifford Donley showed slides of Austria which he took when he was an exchange teacher there two years ago. In addition, members watched "Der Hauptman von Kopenick," a movie satirizing Prussian life at the turn of the century. At Christmas time they held a breakfast featuring German food, which is quite similar to American food, in the Faculty Dining Room. They also sponsored a booth at the April all-school party.

Student Help Keeps Cafeteria Going Strong

Either in the kitchen, hot lunch, or quick lunch lines, students offer their services to the school cafeteria. The many jobs, such as handing out quick lunch merchandise, adding up the hot lunches, or giving change in the hot lunch line, keep these helpers busy for the half-hour working time. Three minutes before the bell for the lunch period rings, the helpers are preparing for another flock of hungry pupils. A fifty-cent lunch is given to each one who is employed in the cafeteria.

L-Room Staff Maintains Air of Informality

With the largest attendance ever recorded utilizing the L-Room this year, the student center staff works overtime to keep the atmosphere relaxed and the hungry hordes satisfied. Not only must the snack bar be kept clean and neat, but the service must be prompt and courteous. In addition to working one night every other week, members are expected to help out at the Friday night dances, special faculty affairs, and all club festivities.

Projectionists Supply Audio-Visual Education

Student projectionists put into operation and keep in order the school's instructional materials. All audio-visual materials are the responsibility of these boys who surrender valuable time to school service. The Instructional Materials Center assists teachers and students in the judicious selection and the planning of the effective use of its aids. For the past six years the center has been under the full-time direction of Miss Lucille Kenney.

Two Groups Handle Public Address System

Efforts of the public address staffs help maintain a reliable communication system throughout the school. The PA staff is responsible for setting up equipment at sports events, and for operating the console during announcements. Another group, Denny Behl, Bob Fawcett, Elarka Hakanson, Robin Rudd, and Bill Scullion handle announcing duties.

Office Staff Assumes Many Routine Duties

The girls on the main office staff assume the responsibility of many routine chores that would otherwise take up the time of the office secretaries. They distribute mail to the teachers' boxes, and sort the myriad yellow, blue, white, pink, and green slips which filter through the office. Although modernization has eliminated the switchboard, they still answer calls that come in. Their duties also include locating students during the school day and providing assistance to school visitors.

Giving service to the school is the main function of the Ushers and the Serving Staff. The Ushers, led by officers Billie Diehl, Monica Ciesielczyk, Sandy Spisak, and Kristi Ziegler, volunteer to assist at such events as the "Laff" Musicale and College Night. The Serving Staff performs its duty by serving at special banquets. Members of both groups are awarded "L's" for their efforts.

Future 'Medics' Like to Assist in Health Center

Health Center volunteers help Mrs. Lava Garrett provide efficient health services. During physical examinations given each sophomore and new student, they assist with weighing and measuring. They then file the records of these examinations for future reference. If any ill students report there during the day, they take their temperatures. In addition, they answer the phone, run errands, and check schedules. When Mrs. Garrett is not in the building, they are left in charge of the operation of the Health Center in case its services are needed.

Social Council Organizes Fun-filled Dances

Social Committee plans all the school dances and parties. Members are divided into committees which handle the decorations, entertainment, and publicity. Through the committee's efficient and enthusiastic management, social events have been successful. Popular parties included the "Sno Fair," a country fair complete with side-show; the "Spring Thing," a carnival at which many clubs sponsored booths; and the traditional Thanksgiving dance.

Staff Members Render Service to Librarians

Since a majority of the student body uses the library daily, the main job of Library Staff members is to help keep the circulation of books and magazines running smoothly. Every school day between 7:45 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. members working behind the main desk and in the reserve alcove check out approximately 150 books, magazines, and pamphlets which they card promptly when they are returned. Members also check in and display the current issues of newspapers and magazines. In addition, some staff members help in the work room. Here they mend all torn materials, reinforce magazines, and paste date slips and card pockets into the backs of magazines and books. Staff members also help operate the paperback bookstore.

Junior Choir Has Active Christmas Season

During the Christmas season Junior Choir sang on Public Square and from Halle's mezzanine as well as in the traditional winter concert. The group also participated in the special school Christmas assembly and in the tree-burning ceremony held on Twelfth Night in Lakewood Park. In addition, the choir sang at the Methodist Church as part of the interdenominational Good Friday service. It also combined with the Senior Choir to cut a record and to present a concert in May. In addition, a special 32-member ensemble group was organized. One activity of this special group was providing music for a Lenten service at a local church.

Orchestra Plays As Part of Humanities Program

Performing in the newly-initiated humanities program was just one of several concerts presented this year by the Symphony Orchestra. Under the direction of Mr. Paul Droste, it also played at several teachers' meetings, at each of the junior high schools, and in the State Orchestra Contest. In addition, it presented a formal concert in January with the bands and one in May with the choirs. Especially talented members participated in the LEL, regional, or state orchestras. A few members were featured as soloists during the concerts. Orchestra personnel also formed several small ensembles such as the brass septet and the string group which played during the Christmas season.

Ensemble Skills Taught Junior Band Members

Junior Band, directed by Mr. Richard A. Strang, provides its members with valuable practice in ensemble playing and helps them to prepare for playing in Senior Band. Now in its second season, it has approximately twice as many members as it did during its first year. The most important activity of the first semester was playing a few selections as part of the winter concert presented in January by the instrumental music organizations. The major concert, however, was the one presented jointly with the Senior Band during May. In addition, some of the junior band members had an opportunity to participate in Marching Band.

Swim Timers, Boosters Aid Athletic Teams

With spirit and careful timing the Boosters Club and the Swimming Timers lend a helping hand to Lakewood's athletic teams. Actively led by Jim Panehal, Idabet Bibbs, and Jackie McDowell, the Boosters Club builds school spirit by promoting support for all sports teams. Besides forming the backbone of the cheering section at athletic events, Boosters, under the direction of Student Council, make posters and banners to adorn the halls and boost the teams on to victory. They also sell buttons, car stickers, and pencils that demonstrate the students' pride in Lakewood High. The Swim Timers aid Ranger mermen by officially clocking all events. Their job entails accuracy and alertness since times frequently differ by only a fraction of a second. Their precise work helps the home swimming meets run smoothly and efficiently.

Tankateers Synchronize, Swim to Perfection

Chosen after a series of practices in the fall because of superior swimming ability, Tankateers master many complex stunts which they later incorporate into difficult routines. Sessions held once a week after school build endurance in the water and better synchronization of movements to music. They also produce improvement in performing stunts. With Adviser Miss Sue Clark, Tankateer Manager Sandie Grulich correlated individual routines into the show held in April. The show was their only money-making project of the year. Being a Tankateer is not only work, however, but it also includes a whole lot of relaxation and fun. Since these girls all "take to the water like ducks," they enjoy an occasional free swim to keep in practice.

Girls Earn Points; Achieve Athletic Awards

Girls participate actively in extracurricular sports to receive points for their athletic awards: the Shield, L-Pin, and Medal. By playing in a majority of team games, a girl may receive 50 points. Individual sports earn 25 points, while every semifinalist and champion gains 50 and 75 points, respectively. The Shield is the first award for 300 accumulated points. The L-Pin follows for 600 points. Recipients of 900 points earn the most coveted of all girls' athletic awards, the Medal.

Leaders: Service To School, Service to World

During school hours, the Leaders take class attendance, lead exercises, demonstrate skills, and guard the locker rooms. They are chosen in the fall at tryout sessions which include a basketball throw, a standing broadjump, and an obstacle course. Selected girls then attend meetings until their official induction in January. Advised by Miss Adell Kleinecke, President Joyce Mobley worked with other officers Nancy Chockley, Anne Goddard, Ginny Young, and Darlene Arbuckle to present an exciting program for the club. This year they played hosts to the other LEL Leaders Clubs in a miniature Olympic Games. During March they sponsored a dance to raise money to send to CARE.

Winter Weather Beckons Volleyball, Basketball

Winter indoor sports encompass friendly rivalry and exciting physical exercise. Basketball intramurals require skill in ball handling, dribbling, and shooting—basics taught in class. All-star teams demand more advanced techniques of those elected. The annual YaleHarvard game, played with the most accomplished girls, ends the season and provides enjoyment for all. The second winter sport is volleyball. Its objective is team cooperation. Excellence in spiking, volleying, and serving furnishes good material for the Purple-Gold all-star game in March. The day following this game, a combination of both teams plays a breath-taking game against the physical education teaching staff.

Spirited Play Follows Rules of the Game

Exemplifying the department's motto of good, clean sportsmanship are participants in intramurals. Whether in team sports such as softball and hockey or in individual sports such as tennis, table tennis, and badminton, it is the spirit behind the game that counts. Each sport is taught in class for the purpose of promoting enthusiasm and physical fitness. Commencing with hockey and tennis in the fall and ending with softball in the spring, girls are given a chance to engage in the activity which they enjoy and to attain the confidence needed to excel in their particular fields.

Dancers, Gymnasts Learn Precision Techniques

Timing and agility are two necessities of both dance and gymnastics. Modern dancers, under the expert guidance of Mrs. Carole Schindler, worked tirelessly under the pressure of an early winter show. The show, "Out of This World," displayed graceful interpretations of our universe through movement. Eleven advanced gymnasts, coached by Lakewood High School graduate and Olympic gymnast Marie Walther along with physical education teacher Miss Patricia Toby, presented a demonstration on March 12, following six weeks of intensive preparation.

Athletic Board Coordinates Sports Program

Overseeing the girls' intramural program is the responsibility of the Athletic Board. This encompasses such duties as organizing tournaments, approving All-Star teams, and keeping accurate point records. Members are chosen in their sophomore and junior years because of their skill, enthusiasm, and past participation. Included in this year's activities in addition to sponsoring the All-Star tournaments, dance show and tank show, was a dessert at which time girls who had earned points received their athletic awards.

As the vibrant enthusiasm of rooters for the varsity basketball squad reached a rare peak, Coach John Piper saw a dream-come-true with the winning of the sectional championship. JV cagers and the swimming team took league seconds, as several mermen took state honors. The wrestling, football, and track teams also had their share of explosive action while precipitating tense audience suspense.

Talented Athletes Fill Ranks of 'L' Club

Membership in the "L" Club is an honor bestowed upon boys who have participated in and contributed vitally to the success of their respective interscholastic athletic teams. As the scholar is honored with citations, these athletes receive major "L's" in recognition of their achievements. Although the club has no formal function, the group meets annually to have its picture taken for posterity.

Ball Sails High And Outside for Batsman

One of the youngest varsity squads in Lakewood High's history represented the school in interscholastic action in 1964. The Texas leaguers didn't drop in, however, as the basemen brought home victories in only four of eighteen games. The scores were always close, as the losing margin in nine of their losses was three runs or fewer. Ken Ribar was named the most valuable player for his all-around ability. Jamie Fisher's clutch-hitting made him the best offensive player, and Jack Brandenburg was named the best defensive player for his stalwart fielding. Ranger baseball fans are assured of smooth ball-hawks and exciting hitters for the 1965 season due to many returning lettermen.

JV's Deliver
New Talent for Varsity Posts

The junior varsity baseball team played their hearts out, but could only manage a 3-10 season record. Cleveland Heights fell twice to the junior sluggers by scores of 3-2 and 3-0. A powerful Parma nine also went down to defeat 4-2. Although it was a losing season on the record books, the won-lost column could have easily been changed for the better, as the jayvees twice lost to both Euclid and Shaw by one run, and to Valley Forge and Euclid by two tallies. The most valuable player on the squad was Greg Horndeski. Other outstanding individuals were Dave Streeter, Tom Mecredy, Dennis McChesky, and Dave Sajna. Coached by Mr. Russell Beck, the JV's gained valuable experience on the playing field and many hope to become varsity regulars next season.

Rangers Drive Down Fairways to LEL Second

The Ranger golf team ended the 1964 season in second place in the LEL, as Valley Forge took first. At the end of the season they sported a 3-1-3 record. Driving past Parma and Brush by identical scores (6-2), they shut out Shaw (8-0). Then they tied Shaker, Forge, and Euclid all by the same score (4-4) but lost to Cleveland Heights (2-6). The golfers ended the season by taking a district fifth. Bill Scullion was elected captain of the 1965 squad.

Netters Gain Experience for Future Matches

An uphill battle all the way, Lakewood netters brought home a disappointing 1-6 season record. It took the entire season for the netmen to end their losing slump, as they were able to win over Shaw 4-1 in the final match of the season. The team was composed of first singles Nick Kozimor, second singles Bruce McKendry, third singles Dick Posladek, first doubles Dave Rothgery and Bill Buckley, and second doubles Bruce Arnesen and Tom Mecredy. The outstanding player by team opinion was Kozimor with a 3-4 record. Although Lakewood was no contender for the LEL lead this year, Coach Glen Salzbrenner was very optimistic about the future: "I feel we will do better next year because of the experience of returning players."

Indoor Trackmen Are Fierce Competitors

The indoor trackmen, coached by Mr. Carl Antel, posted a 4-5 overall record. The JV dashmen started the team on the right foot with a pre-season victory over Lincoln. However, Glenville triumphed over the trackmen in the season opener, while other losses were to John Adams, St. Joseph, East, and West High. Other wins were over Shaker, Valley Forge, and Rocky River. Outstanding individuals who contributed points and firsts to Ranger scores were shotputters Bob Selby, Rick Gosson, and Julian Hoffar, milers Dave Reid and George McKay, 880-yard runner Rudi Hufnagl, and high jumpers Bill Hudson and Mel Lawson. The track men also continued their good form in post-season action, as the mile-relay team (Jerry Metz, Denny Little, John Parrish, and Rudi Hufnagl) took fourth-place in the Knights of Columbus Meet.

Leaping to a near-perfect jump, Nick Kozimor expertly blends skill with great determination

Cindermen Race Through Track and Field

Guided by LEL hurdles-champion and Captain Tom Christie, the cindermen copped a league sixth. Field events and the middle distances were the high point-producers for the Rangers. They were victorious over Rocky River, Rhodes, Parma, Shaw, and Cleveland Heights. Although the overall team effort was not up to par, individual performances merit recognition. Rick Gosson won the "Best Athlete" award at the Marion relays, and was joined in competition by Bob Selby and Julian Hoffar at Sandusky for a record-establishing first in the shotput event. Also turning in exceptional performances were hurdler Bill Krejci, discus-man John Gaydos, and distance runners Gary Petzinger, Dan Lyon, and Doug Ford. Coach Carl Antel hopes that the returning lettermen and promising sophomores will perform more creditably in 1966.

Speedsters Flash One of Best Seasons

A third-place finish was rather frustrating to Lakewood's superb cross-country team. Coached by Norman Brown, the harriers sped to a 5-2 season record, losing two by a hairline. The team took third and second places respectively in the St. Joseph Invitational and Lake Erie League Individual meets. Led by the flashy speedster, senior Doug Ford, the long-winded runners romped to a second place in the District and fifth place in State competition. Winning the St. Joseph and LEL meets and setting a new course record in the latter, Doug placed second downstate with a 9:43 mark. Outstanding performances were also turned in by Dave Reid, Dan Coch, George McKay, Art Fedoruk, Bob Bauman, Rudy Hufnagl, and Don Rowland. Assistant coaches John Piper and Frank Nixon helped the boys individually with their problems. With the strength of returning players, the Rangers have another shot at the top in 1965.

Matmen Fight Rough LEL Competition

Lakewood wrestlers fought viciously but the opposition proved to be a little too overpowering, as five of this year's opponents were champions of their respective leagues in the 1963-64 season. The matmen, although ending the season with a 2-8 record, out-muscled Berea 26-16 to open the season and later edged Shaw 22-18. The performances of senior captain Dave Pickett (7-1-1), and heavyweight Bill Welsh (10-4), who pinned ten foes, were bright spots during the year. Six Ranger matmen made the district tournament. Working long and hard each day in the "sweat-box" wrestling room, the boys learned the intricacies of grappling from Coach Glen Salzbrenner and Assistant Sebastian LaSpina. Ever optimistic, Coach Salzbrenner feels his returning wrestlers, hardened by this season's combat, will make a better showing next year.

Records Fall
As Mermen Take League Second

With double victories over Shaker, Shaw, and Brush, and single wins against Euclid and Midpark, the swimmers managed an LEL second. Third-year lettermen and Co-Captains Tom Sloane and John Hunter turned in firsts against extremely rough competition, and junior Bruce Lamb broke the school records for the 200-yard freestyle and individual medley. Clark Kimball and Paul Bennett turned in creditable performances in the backstroke and breaststroke, while 400-yard freestyler Bill Winter broke the school record for that event. In competition outside the league, the swimmers lost to Berea, Akron Firestone, and Fairview. Cleveland Heights, the 1965 Lake Erie League and state champions, defeated the mermen twice.

Red Hot Rangers Set Sectionals Afire With Play

The varsity basketball squad ended the year with an 8-10 record in fifth place in the LEL, as Shaw and Parma shared the championship. The Rangers' spot in the final standings hung by a thread in several matches in which the losses were by one or two baskets. Senior center Bob Mills was the leading rebounder and had the best field goal percentage at 55. Senior forward and all-LEL Rich Coad led the scoring department with 17 points per game. Co-captain and all-LEL Bob Mast led in assists. Coad won a PresStar rating as Mills and Mast picked up Plain Dealer Dream-Five-Team nominations. In tournament action the Rangers trounced Fairview, upset favored St. Edward, and became Berea sectional champs by beating West in one of the most exciting sectional games ever seen. For their exceptional performances Pete Dudczenko and Bob Mills were nominated for the Berea All-Sectional Team. In district play the Rangers lost to Bay Village 65-63, almost tying the score in the last second as midnight came to the fiery Cinderella team of the tournament.

Forge Wins JV Battle for League Crown

JV cagers ended an exciting season of basketball as they took second place in the LEL with a 14-4 record. In the tension-packed season finale, which broke a first-place tie between Lakewood and Valley Forge, the Patriots edged the JV's in double overtime, 61-60. The only other losses on the Ranger record were against Shaw (twice) and Cuyahoga Falls. High scorer for the season was Ray Richards who tallied 244 points for a 14.4 points-per-game average, but Alex Dadas pulled in the most rebounds. Both boys were on the varsity bench during tournament play. Ranger Coach Lee Boyer attributed the fine season to solid defense, balanced shooting, relatively few injuries, and plenty of hustle. Mr. Boyer felt that the jayvee cagers really proved their ability to handle themselves well on the court and in addition gained invaluable experience for action on next year's varsity squad.

Tumblers Hold Physical Fitness Standards High

The tumbling team is one of the most unheralded teams in the school, yet it requires balance, coordination, strength, muscle control, and practice more than most interscholastic sports. The team is composed of about sixty boys, most of whom are experts in one or more phases of gymnastics. The members, composed of the three grades, work out before school and during sixth-hour gymnastics class. These "followers of fitness" are familiar with all the apparatus peculiar to their program—parallel bars, horse, rings, trampoline, and unicycle. The boys also perform a great many exercises and stunts not using the equipment. Coached by Mr. Donald Harwood, the boys gave performances at halftime during various Ranger basketball games. Engagements during the spring included the All-School Party, Golden Agers, and the Past-Ministers' Night at Lakewood Masonic Lodge.

Forge and Shaw Are Co-Champs

Power running, pin-point passes, and bone-crunching tackles were all a part of the action in the Ranger's four win-six loss season. Victories over Shaker, Parma, Rhodes, and West Tech provided excitement for Lakewood fans, in home games. Known for its depth in running backs, the purple and gold developed fullbacks Rick Gosson and Tom Harmon. Linn Hughes, John Brindle, and Bill Manogg alternated at halfback and Pete Dudczenko and Tom Orin saw action as quarterbacks. Rollie McPike, Bill Rawlings, Julian Hoffar, Paul Lindgren, and Bob Salo composed one of the heaviest offensive lines in the league. Senior end Bob Smith and his sophomore counterpart Scott McDowell pulled in innumerable passes to gain respect for the Lakewood passing attack. The climax of the season was the 14-0 win over first-place Shaker Heights.

Junior Varsity
Pounds Out Six Straight Wins

Sporting a 6-win, 3-loss, 1tie record in the powerful LEL, the JV team made considerable improvement over last year's 3-7-0 slate. Late season injuries were held largely responsible for the losses. The highlight of the season was the 6-0 shutout against defending champ Valley Forge. Aggressive defense accounted for several victories as Berea, Midpark, West Tech, and Forge were held scoreless. The JV's gained confidence and poise under the direction of Coach Lee Boyer and Assistant Allen Lindsay. Quarterback Dan DiBiasio and end Bob Muir established a passing attack second only to the slam-bang running game of the powerful backs Don Ballard, Angelo Hoty, and Rich Bigham. Especially potent in the blitzing defense were Jerry Metz and Bill Janesz. Tucking their vaunted playing experience under their belts, many of the JV's hope to attain varsity positions next season.

Cheerleaders Shout Their Teams to Victory

"Go Lakewood," echoes the amplified cry of a cheerleader cavorting on the sidelines of the gridiron leading yells of encouragement through her megaphone. The six varsity cheerleaders cheer at every football and basketball game, all pep rallies, and occasionally swimming and wrestling meets. Advised by Miss Adell Kleinecke of the Girls' Physical Education Department, they meet daily the ninth hour to practice as well as teach their skills to the twelve JV cheerleaders eagerly competing for next year's six available positions.

'Majorettes' Don New Name and Garb

Presenting a new look on the gridiron and at pep rallies, the varsity majorettes have gained not only new uniforms, but also a unique new name—Lakewood's "Rangerettes." The change of dress adds attractive leadership as the Rangerettes lead the band in colorful halftime shows. In spite of the change, the jayvees remain majorettes, and continue to supplement the varsity in their year of preparation. Both groups, being an integral part of the band under the direction of Mr. Richard Strang, practice ninth hour and twirl at almost all band concerts and performances. As the junior twirlers learn, the seniors enjoy a year of glory.

Sparks New Spirit

Lakewood High we're proud of thee . . .

Shouts, cheers, chants, and yells were all part of "spirit day" of the week-long "GO LHS" campaign last December. Initiated by the Student Council, the program derived its name from the initial letters of the daily slogans of the drive. Each school day had its own special goal. This program bestowed added meaning through the inner significance of its name and its rewarding results.

Challenges of the Sixties Offer Many Opportunities to Enlightened

Awaiting instructions, seniors wistfully prepare for ceremony

Graduation was the climax to three eventful years for over 700 seniors, the largest class Lakewood has ever seen. Graduation culminates the gaiety of senior week, the solemnity of baccalaureate and commencement, and the melancholy of farewells to closest friends. Graduation represents a turning point, an advancement—an opportunity. This year's graduates have been as much a part of their alma mater as it has been of them. They will leave as young adults facing a highly competitive and challenging world and, long after all the senior festivities have ended, many will look back with fond remembrances on their years at Lakewood.

Lakewood Graduates

Soon students will emerge from these doors facing a new outlook on life, looking to new horizons, and asking themselves the question: "Where do I go from here?"

High Quality Dairy Products

. . . and Dependable Service

To get better dairy products, start with something better. The thousands of gallons of milk that are shipped daily into the clean, modern Dairymen's Ohio Farmers plant come from practically the same carefully selected dairy farmers every day of the year.

What better insurance could there be for dairy products that are always so uniformly good?

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

We hope the 1965 Cinema upholds the tradition of excellence set by so many of the previous books. The 1964 Cinema with Co-Editors Claudia Bennett and Jim Griffin won both All American and Medalist awards. This was the twenty-first consecutive All American from the National Scholastic Press Association, while thirteen of the last fifteen books were chosen as Medalist by the Columbia Press Association. The entire staff of the yearbook would like to acknowledge and thank all those who made the publication of the 1965 Cinema a reality.

Miss Gertrude McTaggart
